

My name is Sarah, I am 23 years old and currently in college. My major is in Education. I plan on becoming an elementary teacher in the future. I was born and raised in Texas. I live with my mom and twin sisters.

In my spare time I have my very own blog at <https://alwaysandforeverfangirling.wordpress.com> where I review books, movies, TV shows and music. Recently, I got into attending conventions and cosplaying. Which literally means dressing up as character from a movie, TV show, game, etc. I find it fun to dress up as someone other than yourself.

I love to read books. I always liked reading as a child, however it was not until I read the Twilight Saga that my spark of truly loving and wanting to read came from. I will always be grateful for this book series because it changed my life. I would have never found National Twilight Night on Facebook if not for liking Twilight.

I have been with NTN since it was just an open group and have been there since it transitioned into a closed group. As the director of PR for National Twilight Night I will be helping out with the social media, marketing, etc. I hope to help NTN become more exposed as a place for Twilight fans to come and talk about everything they love about the Twilight Saga.

If I would have never found National Twilight Night, I would not have as many friends that love Twilight as much as I do. My wish for NTN is to have more people join the membership.

*Sincerely, Sarah.
Keep calm and sparkle on!*
